

Little Fiends Tabloid

Issue 3, December 2005

London Calling! Divebomb the Wingnut mingles with the Brits

Buckingham Palace
photo: L.Lapthorne

Big Ben photo: L.Lapthorne

The Little Fiends get around!

We love hearing about the adventures the Little Fiends are getting themselves into. Check out the map and many mischeivous pictures from their travels at:

littlefiends.com/fiendsaroundtheworld.

Get involved.

Send us pictures of you and your Little Fiends and we'll put you on the map!

Jorge does Toronto

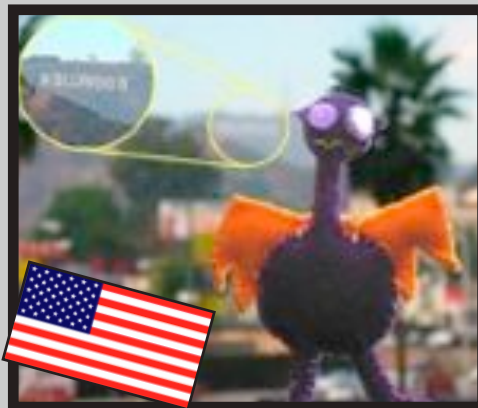

CN Tower photo: E.Nickerson

Cityhall photo: E.Nickerson

Fly-By shows off in Hollywood

Hollywood Sign
photo: A.Peach/D.Seymour

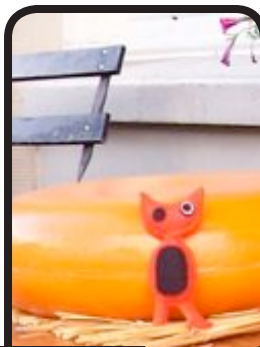

Jorge's near death experience in Amsterdam

Jorge the Mexican Fiend is known for his excessive behaviour so it was no surprise that when visiting Amsterdam he thought he had stumbled upon a little piece of heaven. Jorge enjoyed Amsterdam's finest... beer, cheese, ladies, and umm... well, you know.

Tragedy nearly struck, when after a night at the coffee shop, Jorge decided to combat his hangover by devouring a slab of gouda. Jorge was making good headway until the delicatessen owner mistook Jorge for a rodent and smacked him with her shoe. Things got messy when Jorge retaliated and bit her in the ankle. Apparently he is no longer welcome in the Netherlands.

photo: Alison&Lance

Wear if you dare

Our t-shirts have attitude... do you have what it takes to wear one?

Pictured:
"Drunken Princess... never let her glass run dry"

Also available: "Jorge considers orange the color of robust sexuality."

Available in various sizes online:
www.littlefiends.com/apparel

Sign-up to receive the "Little Fiends Tabloid".